

Ending remarks

- I would like to express my sincere appreciation to all the participants again for attending this two and half workshop of G-EVER1.
- We obtained comprehensive recent activities of geo-institutions and organizations, new data, data sharing, international communications, cooperation and outreach to society.
- We need more efforts in order to reduce disasters and answer societal needs following today' summaries.
- We may face very crucial geo-hazards in the future and we have to inform the people to prepare properly in scientific way.

- In order to study in-frequent geo-hazards, international cooperation is essential.
- Preparedness for global scale disasters are not only the issues of international cooperation and aids, but also “National Security” issue.
- We live on this small “borderless” Planet Earth. We rely on each other economically. That is why we national institutions have to work for this.
- We GSJ-AIST will work continuously especially in the Asia-Pacific region.

Thank you and Goodbye
See you at G-EVER 2
